Reading TOPIX changes

Index membership and share-price movements are different

Start with the official announcement

On 7 October 2026, JPX Market Innovation & Research announced periodic constituent changes for TOPIX and related indices. Check the announcement for securities and implementation conditions.

Inclusion does not guarantee a gain

Index inclusion does not guarantee rising prices or future profits. Expectations, advance trading and business performance can also affect prices.

Assess supply and demand carefully

Consider normal trading turnover, free float and price changes before the event, alongside any estimate of index-linked trading. Check permissions before reusing third-party data.

Sources and revision

This is original TODOROKI commentary referring to the official announcement. The earlier third-party estimated amount table, rankings and priority stock language have been removed because reuse terms and calculation evidence were not verified. This document does not recommend trades or predict gains.
